INTRODUCTION

The HIV Prevention Services for Clients involved in the Criminal Justice System in New York City was developed through a multi-tiered process involving New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene (DOHMH) staff, Prevention Planning Group (PPG), Criminal Justice Workgroup members, additional key informants and contacts, and an extensive materials and literature review. These resources provided information about the format for the Directory, information to be included about the agencies, and the agencies and types of organizations to be included which will best assist NYC service providers. Criminal Justice Workgroup members identified the list of information and services that are included in the Resource Directory. The main goal of the Resource Directory is to improve access to and availability of HIV prevention services for clients involved with the criminal justice system, through the development of a list of HIV prevention and care providers with programs specifically targeted to this population within NYC. These specific agencies are described in detail in the body of the directory (pages 5-82). Agencies that provide HIV prevention services, but are not geared towards the criminal justice client are listed in the back. For example, these services include Needle Exchange sites, AIDS Community Service Providers (CSPs), additional hotline numbers and advocacy, policy and training agencies

ECQ Group, Inc. reviewed over 300 community-based organizations for inclusion in the Directory, and found approximately 200 that provide HIV prevention related services for these clients. ECQ Group, Inc. developed a survey tool, based on participant input, and contacted agencies by e-mail and telephone to complete the survey.

There are many other Referral Resource Directories available which may also be of assistance in providing services to patients and clients involved with the Criminal Justice System. These include:

- Bedford Stuyvesant/Crown Heights Coalition on Research and Planning Resource Directory.
- Bronx HIV Care Networks' Resource Directory of HIV/AIDS Community Services. Spring 2002.
- Community Coalition Project of Central Brooklyn Resource Guide. The Miracle Makers, Inc. Lead Agency.
- New York Academy of Medicine Library, www.aidsnyc.org On-line directory of AIDS Service Providers.
- New York City HIV Prevention Program Service Directory. Summer 2004
- Queens HIV Care Network Service Delivery Plan 2002 Resource Directory

If you have corrections to the Directory, or would like to access the most current version, please contact the New York City Department of Health and Mental Hygiene Prevention Planning Unit at (212) 788-4180, or at dohmhppg@health.nyc.gov.

AIDS Community Service Providers

Community Service Providers (CSPs) provide a continuum of services to meet both the HIV prevention and support service needs of people who are affected by and infected with HIV/AIDS. The services provided by CSPs include outreach to communities most at risk of infection; HIV prevention and advanced risk reduction education; case management including COBRA case management; support services including client education, transportation, support groups, counseling, buddy volunteers, legal advocacy; services to affected family members including bereavement counseling and support groups; and referral to services not directly provided by the CSP. Some CSPs provide treatment adherence support.

The New York City Gay & Lesbian Anti-Violence Project (AVP) serves lesbian, gay, transgender, bisexual and HIV-positive victims of violence, and others affected by violence, by providing free and confidential services enabling them to regain their sense of control, identify and evaluate their options, and assert their rights. In particular, AVP's staff and volunteers assist survivors of hate-motivated violence (including HIV-motivated violence), domestic violence, and sexual assault, by providing therapeutic counseling and advocacy within the criminal justice system and victim support agencies, information for self-help, referrals to practicing professionals, and other sources of assistance. AVP provides free and confidential assistance to thousands of crime victims each year from all five boroughs of New York City. The agency maintains a 24-hour crisis intervention hotline staffed by professional counselors and trained volunteers, provides professional and peer support counseling as well as police, court and social service advocacy and conducts training programs for law enforcement, victim service providers and hospital personnel.

AVP serves the larger community through efforts to educate the public about violence directed at or within our communities and to reform government policies and practices affecting lesbian, gay, transgender, bisexual, HIV-positive and other survivors of violence. AVP works to change public attitudes that tolerate, insulate or instigate hate-motivated violence, and to promote public policies designed to deter such violence.
